

Abstract

The present invention relates to a detent disk for an overload coupling, in particular for a machine tool.

A detent disk with a shape designed using powder metallurgy is provided. An overload
5 coupling and a method for manufacturing a detent disk are also provided.

(Figure 3)